Hispanic
Heritage Month
September 15-October 15

Dr. Mora's research focuses mainly on questions of census racial classification, immigration, and racial politics in the United States and Europe. Her book, Making Hispanics, was published by the University of Chicago Press and provides the first historical account of the rise of the "Hispanic/Latino" panethnic category in the United States. This work has received wide recognition and has also been the subject of numerous national media segments. In April of 2020, Professor Mora helped to oversee the largest survey on Covid-19 and racial disparities in California. She also received the 2020 Graduate Mentoring Award from the UC Berkeley Academic Senate, which recognizes her teaching and mentoring work with students on campus.
