
Latinx Staff Association (LaSA)

LaSA Charla de la tarde with

Dr. Rodrigo Dominguez Villegas

Director of Research and the Latino Data Hub
Latino Policy and Politics Institute
UCLA

The importance of data disaggregation for equitable policy ideation

Come learn about how data disaggregation can advance representation and equity and the need for better data collection standards to better reflect the diversity and complexity of Latinx communities. You'll hear about the LPPI's new Latino Data Hub, a new tool to improve data disaggregation about Latinos in the U.S.

Wednesday, November 15th
12:10pm – 1:00pm

Zoom: <https://UCOP.zoom.us/j/92802700966>

Meeting ID: 928 0270 0966

Questions about this event?

Contact: Patricia.Osorio-ODEa@ucop.edu

Dr. Rodrigo Dominguez-Villegas serves as LPPI's Director of Research and director of the Latino Data Hub. He is responsible for developing, managing, and executing LPPI's research portfolios as well as for mentoring LPPI's policy fellows.

Previously, Dr. Dominguez-Villegas worked at the Institute for Social Science Research at the University of Massachusetts-Amherst, where he provided consultations on research design and statistical methods to scholars across various disciplines. He was also a research consultant for the Migration Policy Institute in Washington D.C. and conducted research projects on international migration in North and Central America, return migration, and Mexico's migration policy. Dr. Dominguez-Villegas' publications and policy reports have been covered in over 50 national and international media outlets, including the New York Times, NPR, NBC News, Al Jazeera, Reforma, El Universal, and El Pais.

Dr. Dominguez Villegas has a strong interest in immigrants' rights and is involved in initiatives to strengthen public policies that support deported migrants in Mexico and Central America. He has testified as an expert witness before the Canadian Parliament and as a country expert in deportation cases in the United States. He holds a PhD and an MA in Sociology from the University of Massachusetts-Amherst, and a BA in Economics and Geography from Middlebury College

